WHY TRI-CITY ELECTRONICS...?

There are many places to buy your products now. But how much is a warranty, service, installation and expert advice worth? Circuit City products do not have warranties and our prices have always been competitive, especially now. Many of you know that Michael Lingle is buying the business. The sale will be complete in 2011. Doesn't it make good investment sense to buy from a local company that will be here to take care of your electronic products, home theatre and home automation systems?

We can sell to you not only the eggs, but we can make the breakfast for you.

Since 1966 the experts at Tri-City Electronics in Conover and now Tri-City Electronics/Synergy in Ballantyne Village have offered you the best in audio, video, home theater and home automation systems. We offer free in-home consultations and our CEDIA certified technicians back each sale with professional installation and honest, dependable service.
